Comments provided by: Company-Downstream user, UK

General Comments

We do not support any prohibition of Bromadiolone or the other active rodenticide ingredients. There are insufficient alternative methods to control rodent infestations and if these products are withdrawn there will be a serious risk to public health in the UK.