Dear BPC,

I am against the substitution of the chemical you listed on your web site: http://echa.europa.eu/addressing-chemicals-of-concern/biocidal-products-regulation/public-consultation-on-potential-candidates-for-substitution as there is no suitable alternative to help qualified pest controller to control rodent activity using bait formulation.

It is essential that all qualified pest controller has all the tools available to them to combat rodent activity effectively. It will severely impact all pest control companies if they are only allowed to use non toxic methods to deal with rodent activity.
I am in favour of setting a regulation to only sell pesticide to qualified personal and no other.

Regards
