Comments provided by: Company-Importer, NL

General Comments
As trade company we need the anticoagulants primarily for our business.

Some important enumerations and advantages to use anticoagulants instead of an alternative based on our insights and experiences:

Anticoagulants are selective

Anticoagulants are effective

Anticoagulants have an antidote Vitamin K1

Anticoagulants give the user the opportunities for a quick and cost effective pestcontrol

Anticoagulants are important to keep control on the rats and mice populations with the result f.e.:

Anticoagulants to reduce the transferability of diseases

Anticoagulants to reduce the use of antibiotics

Rats and mice do not notice anticoagulants, so they continue to eat the anticoagulants until they die of it, in contrast to acute poisons which are leading to bait shyness.

Anticoagulants are for decades on the market without any problems for professional and amateur use.

Amateur use is well regulated in the Netherlands.

Anticoagulants are easy to use.